ABOUT ME

Physics and mathematics were the subjects I excelled in during my high school years. It wasn't just that I was good at it but I also enjoyed learning about the physical principles underlying the workings of everything in the universe.

So when it came to picking a profession I figured here was a subject I enjoy learning and I have the opportunity to get paid to talk to others about it. It was a no-brainer! Of course I found out teaching wasn't just about sharing knowledge but it required the menial tasks of creating assessments, marking work, classroom management, reporting on student progress and other things aswell.
